Seeing stars: 10 best rooftop bars in Bangkok

Distil, Lebua at State Tower

While it may be Sky Bar that gets the attention, thanks to its appearance in Hangover II — and for its sweet tribute drink, the Hangovertini — but Distil is our pick for a more refined evening — and the highest rooftop bar in Bangkok.

The outside area may be smaller, but it’s less crowded with tourists jostling for position and the views over the river are better. Another huge reason this bar is one of the best for tourists and residents wanting a really special night is master mixologist Ron Ramirez, who created drinks for both Sky Bar and Distil. Cocktails such as the seafood menu is one of the very best in the city which makes sitting at the bar every bit as exciting as sitting outside.

Ramirez dabbles in molecular gastronomy to create fun creations, such as his Ice Cocktail, with the flavour of the cocktail becoming stronger as the ice melts and, the very cute takeaway cocktail, which comes in a Chinese takeaway box and is designed to be drunk as you travel the one floor between Distil and Sky Bar.

The bar also serves light seafood bites, including sashimi, sushi and seashell and fine cigars, too.

The celebrated French fashion designer, Coco Chanel had once said “Luxury must be comfortable, otherwise it is not luxury”. The Lebua Tower Club in Bangkok, is the perfect manifestation of this adage. Comfort is repeat at every corner and design of the five-star hotel located where the Chao Phraya River and Silom Roads meet, a short walk from the Chao Phraya River.

In a city overflowing with luxury hotels, the Tower Club at Lebua stands out with distinction right from the moment you check-in. You don’t need to wait your turn at the hotel reception desk. You jog yourself on the plush hotel lobby and the hotel personnel takes you through your reservation. This speaks volumes about how the hotel approaches the idea of hospitality—they start at the basics—comfort.

Then comes the luxurious suites — the City View suites, River View suites, Signature suites, and even ‘Hangover’ suites (that’s where the cast of the movie Hangover 2 had created havoc). We stayed in the River View suite at the 46th floor with our family. A river view couldn’t have been more refined than this, the perfect sojourn for our 4-day stay at the Tower Club. Needless to say, the rooms were spacious and, and picture-perfect as expected of the Lebua brand. We particularly loved the kitchenette in our suite that added a cozy touch to the suite design — to be able to make our own coffee felt like our home was transported into a beautiful mišneu overnight. It was a wonderful suite for families, and could be great for couples too.
Tower Club At Lebua Ushers In 2015 With World’s Highest Ball Drop

On the 31st of December, the Bangkok Ball Drop at Lebua will once again put Thailand’s capital on the world map of New Year’s Eve celebrations as the 7-foot Bangkok Ball Drop 40 feet from above Strocco, the world’s highest alfresco restaurant. Able to be seen for more than a mile across the city, the ball will be 872 feet in the air, making it the most visible in Bangkok. For the second consecutive year, the descent of the Bangkok Ball will be the city’s first and most memorable sight of 2015 followed by an eye-popping fireworks display.

In addition to enjoying the best-view of Bangkok’s latest New Year’s Eve phenomenon, the guests at Lebua’s four attitude-defying restaurants and bars – Strocco, Mezzaluna, Breeze and Distil – will be treated to redefine celebratory cuisine and a welcome reception of complimentary champagne with the visionary CEO of lebua Hotels & Resorts, Deesakol Om.

Lebua’s ‘wow’ factor combines the exceptional and the exclusive

4 days ago

With properties in Bangkok, India and New Zealand, the CEO of Lebua Hotels & Resorts has plans to take his recipe for hospitality success to Myanmar, and for Thai cuisine to the U.S.

"Wow" is the word Deepak Ohri chooses when asked to sum up the experience offered by Lebua hotels in Bangkok.

You would expect that, since he’s the CEO of Lebua Hotels and Resorts, a chain of luxury hotels that started in Bangkok and expanded to include locations in India and New Zealand.

Now a new hotel is being planned in neighboring Myanmar; the location was inspired by President Barack Obama’s visit to the region in November 2012, which included a stop in Myanmar, the first visit to that country by a sitting president.

"The bilateral relationship between Thailand and the U.S. is very strong and whenever the U.S. goes, Thailand will always follow," says Mr. Ohri. "That is why Thailand as a country is doing very well in all sectors, especially the tourism sector."

The Myanmar project will likely be a difficult challenge, concedes Mr. Ohri, who notes that the country is still an emerging economy and infrastructure will be an issue.

Tourism is a major contributor to Thailand’s economy, accounting for about 7% of its GDP and attracting 22 million visitors last year. It remains one of the top destinations for American tourists, a credit to the long friendship that the two countries have shared for 180 years, says Mr. Ohri.

"Thailand is number two in the region in terms of inbound tourists and we hope that we will be number one very soon."

The AEC, or Asean Economic Community, agreement to open up the free flow of goods and services among member countries is expected to increase regional tourism by 10 to 15% over the next few years, prompting the hotel executive to add another 100 rooms to his Bangkok location and expand facilities abroad.
